PORTLAND, MONDAY, FEBRUARY 29, 1887,

THE INTERSTATE LAW. The interstate commerce bill was approved by the president on the 4th February, to take effect sixty days after its passage. It will go into operation, therefore, on the 6th April.

The fundamental principle of the bill is found in the fourth section.

The fundamental principle of the bill is found in the fourth section. Upon this principle and for this principle the bill was created. The principle is prohibition of a greater charge for transportation of passengers or property, under substantially similar circumstances and conditions, for a shorter than for a longer distance over the same line, in the same direction. But this fees not apply to transportation of passengers or preperty wholly within one state. No road, therefore, that lied wholly within one state, he subject to the precisions of the bill.

state, is subject to the provisions of the bill.

The Northern Facific will soon have a continuous line from St. Paul to Tacoma. The bill will prohibit any greater charge for transportan from St. Paul to Spokane Falls than from St Paul to Tacoma; but it will not prohibit an equal charge. The Union Pacific will soon have (through lease of the O. T. & N.) a "continuous line from Canaha to Por land. This bill will prohibit any greater charge for transportation from Omaha to Baker Citylor to Pendiston than from Omaha to Portland, but it will not prohibit from Omaha to Portland, but it will not probable an equal charge.

Take the hand in the whor direction. The bill will prohibit a greater charge on lumber from Portland to Runtington in Inches than trom Portland to points in Indhe than trom Portland to Denver or Onaha; but it will not prohibit an equal charge. It is probable therefore that the bill will not hurt our lumber trade. For the like reason it should not infuriously at-For the like reason it should not injuriously atfect the transportation to the East of our cattle, wool, fish and other products.

But it will prevent terminal points like San Francisco, Portland and Seattle from getting as cheap rates on goods by rall from the East as heretofore. These points must hereafter pay at least as much on goods coming by rail from the East as interior points do. Under the interstate law San Francisco cannot get goods from the East by rail at lower rates then the Navedo towns; Portland cannot get them at lower rates than the towns in Eastern Oregon, Eastern Washington and Idaho. The saxboard towns may get the same rates by rail, from the East as the interior towns, but they cannot get lower The prime object in an actment of the law was

The prime object in enactment of the law was to prevent terminal points from having an advantage over intermediate points. On the Pacific slope the bill may be expected to cause some temporary inconvenience and loss to forminal points without bringing to intermediate points any benefits. Thus, when the same rates from the East are made on goods to all points have an the Cascade and Rocky more. points between the Cascade and Rocky moun-tain ranges as are made to Portland, the interior merchants may go to St. Paul, Chicago and New York to buy goods, and Portland may lose trade. But Fortland will at once avail hereoff of cheap transportation by sea. Goods will be shipped from New York to Portland by the letuahipped from New York to Portland by the leth-mus and the cape, at lower rates than the rail-ways can deliver them. All staple and bully goods will take this course. The railways will not reduce rates from the East to pulats in Eastern Oregon, Eastern Washington, Idaho and Mon-tana, since the law does not oblige them to do so. The ceem rate to Portland will afford those points approprinting of buying goods here, but points opportunities of buying goods here; but then the railways will adjust their charges so as their the railways will as just their charges so as to make the goods no cheapter from Portland to interior points than from St. Paul, Omaha and New York to the same points. They may be expected to make the charges from Portland to Walla Walla, to Spokane Falls and to Baker City substantially the same, on the same class of goods, as from Omaha and St. Paul to those points. On-this basis the business will adjust itself. The law will probably buri trade for a tima in San Francisco and Portland, but the in-terior will get no benefit from it. Transfer of the trade from San Francisco and Portland to St. Paul, Omaha, Chicage and New York will not help our interior points at all, since their railway charges will still remain as high as now, and indeed may be put up higher. The charges, whether the goods go into the interior from the East or West; will be a pullicad by the road, substantially on the basis of "what the traffic will bear." The interior people, hoping through this till to get lower rates, will not get thom; and probably they will find themselves com-pelled to ppr added rates, sufficient to reimburse the roads for their losses on treights through to the terminal points. For what the roads lose through transfer to the sea of the business of

In a short time railroads, merchants and all concerned will find out from experience what the actual results promise to be. Immediately there will be an effort on all hands to make the most out of the situation, there will be rapid adjustment to its requirements, and the railways, figuring for the most they can possibly get, will take care that they lose nothing in the long run. For loss of business at terminal points, like San Francisco and Portland, they will make interior points, which have clamored for this law, reimburse them. Points in the in-terior, which Portland and San Francisco have been supplying, will not get the same rates from the East which Portland and San Francisco have been getting, but will be compelled pay at least as much as heretofore, and probably more; and they will be likely to find tess accommodation in banks and, wholesate houses of Eastern cities than they have obtained here. In the long run they will find it beneficial to emselves to be near their source of supply. Could the law stand permanently as it would prove an advantage to these seaboard terminal points, since it would tend, by check-ing shipments of many heavy and cheap articles that we now bring from the East to built by manufacturing centurs here, but it is no bazardous thing to predict that the law will not be permitted to stand as it is, since it will cartainly disappoint the expectations and purposes of those in whose interest it was enacted, and hence there will be a low demand for its mod-

SENATOR WAGER OF UMATILLA.

This gentleman, in attempting to assume a severe tone towards The Oregonian in rophy to a plain remark made by it upon a public question with which his name was connected, only becomes testy and waspish. "Since you de-ctare," he writes, "that it would have been so easy to amond the Biggs hill—which you admit was utterly impracticable so as to make it sufficient and satisfactory, why did you delay maklng the simple and necessary suggestion until the legislature had adjourned?" And this is followed with some labored effort at success. The Oneconian begs to call Mr. Wager's attention to the fact that just as soon as it got a a copy of the Biggs bill, namely, on the 10.h of Pebruary—immediately after the bill had passed representative and before it was considered by the serate,—it published an article exattled "A Great Mistake," in which it exposed the fallacies of the said bill, saying: "An extreme measure like this will defeat or postpone rational regulation (of the reaccosts); it will lead to disaster to the made and to the country, and the relegant the roads and to the country, and the rebound from it will be sudden and extreme." And, attempting to specify what "rational legislation"

A judicious act at this time would require moderate reduction of the rates charged for earnings of staple raw products, in carloady and there the matter ought to rest for a time, till further experiences. matter ought to rest for a time, till further experience shows what can properly be done. Our legislation on this subject, as it must be temative and experimental, should proceed slowly and cantiously. It should begin with a moderate reduction of rates for transpirtation of the groducts of our farms, forests and mines, and should proceed by successive steps as experience points out the way. This is the only rational and safe method A sweeping act, like the one that has passed the house, transe in total generation by rail, and obviously without sven the generation by rail, and obviously without sven to generation by rail, and obviously without sven to generate the proceedings of the consequences, would not brine relief to the public. It would injure the railroads and night brine ruin upon them; by at to this our people could not he indifferent, since we can't do injustice to others without bringing injury upon corselves.

By this Mr. Wager will be reminded that THE OBECOMIAN wasn't so inquientive or remiss as Oraconian waso't so inattentive or remiss as he assumes it to have been. It must say now on the other hand that it didn't suppose him so gnorant as he professes to have been of the findamental principles to be kept in view in the matter of railway regulation in a state like our own. It really could not have supposed that any intelligent man would require to be told even as much as was said in the extract above namely, that "a judicious act at this time would require moderate reduction of reless could require moderate reduction of reless coursed for carriage of stayle run-product, in con-lead lots, and there the matter ought to rest for a time, till further experience shows what can properly be done." This was a simple and would have been a wredictable blue. For and would have been a practicable thing. Fer haps The Chegonian was in error in its judg-ment that Mr. Wager could have carried this through the legislature. He seems not to have cought the idea at all, or at least until it was too late, that what the legislature might have done, and what in fact it ought to have done, as suggested by The Oregonian in the comments on the Biggs bill before that bill reached the branch of the legislature of which Mr. Wager is a member, was to enacta max mum freith law for humber, flour, grain, etc., in car-lead lols, and thus give a measure of relief to an producers, without injustice or violent injury to the railways.

The general accritity of Mr. Wager's letter. THE OREGONIAN may answer by saying that it has none but the kindest feelings towards h.m., and that its only regret is that his car er throughout the session did not justify the expec-tations it formed of him at the beginning thereof. The controversy in which be has in-volved bimself with his constituents upon the Umatilla division question it lo.v.s to him and

A VERY SEEIOUS QUESTION.

A law enacted at the recent legislative session rectors are so authorized by a majority vote of the electors. This law was proposed by Ar. John Wilson, of Mulmomah county, and was designed to apply specially to this city, where the promoters of the kindergarten system are anxious to have it grafted on the public schools. The question will be laid before our people, so we are told, at the school election row coming on. We have seen no estimate of the coming on. We have seen no estimate of he cost of the proposed annex, but it would no doubt be considerable. The cost of the three or four charity kindergartens now maintained by subscription affords no basis for calculates elince they are small affeits and managed with the severest economy. If kindergartens are attached to the public schools there will have to be one at least, with not less than two teachers, in each of the seven school buildings. For every child now in the charity schools there would seen be a score in the public schools. The

But this question is not wholly one of cost. It may be argued on the one hand that here is a proposition to attach to the public schools, r. ta mere ornamental tranch, available (as is the high school) only to the rich or the well-to-lohigh school) only to he rich of the well-to-lo, but a branch that would chiefly benefit the por; a branch that would take from the streets n any children under the present school age and ex-charge tideness, with its tendency to vice, for discipline and the beginnings of knowledge. On the other hand, it may be orged that the free kindergarten is a means to relieve parents, of duties to which they are bound by every ob ign-tion of nature and morals, and in a sense, an encouragement to irresponsible propagation of children. Where are the claims upon some y to provides rattles and tin whistles, why not shoes

These considerations lie at the surface and These considerations, its at the surface and suggest themselves. They are worth very are relatention. The appeal now made is in an engaging form. To no sort of proposition do men listen sh kindly as to that which promises assistance and comfort to childhood. But it is worth while to ark if the free kindergarten does not involve the principle asserted by those who not involve the principle asserted by those who would have all the burdens of life taken from the individual and put upon the state. This is a uncetion to be asked and to be considered in all

A BRIEF ANSWES.

FOREST GROVE, Feb. 2d. TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

I see a little controversy between some young gentlemen concerning elk and deer losing their antilets annually. I think I can probably throw some light on the subject.

First—Under ordinary circumstances they do certainly lose their antilers every year, and the time is from the last of December to March 1 of each pear. They may receive injuries by which they may not lost them, and if lost may mot return during life.

Second—What becomes of the antiers affer failing of? Will eay, in reply, that they are devoured by many kinds of wild animals, commencing with the small, monse up to the gray well, for the write, has found many partly eaten.

NO. 183 CARLTON AVENUE, BROOKLYN, N. Y. ALOCK'S FOROM Plasters are undoubtedly the best-external remedy manufactured. I make this assertion to the public from my own personal experience of their wonderful virtues. Suffering through a best of their wonderful virtues. Suffering through a best of cold, I sampled a choice of Allocock's Porrous Plasters upon going to bed at hight. The result was, that in eight hours after applying them I could get up and walk about with but very little gain or ache, when the night previous Ecould petither get up nor down without help, nor stoop to remove my shoes. I have since used them in my family for various aliments, and have never known item to fall to give almost immedias relief. TESTINONY OF A PAINTER.

A LETTER PROM SENATOR WAGER.

PENDLETON, Feb. 23.
To the Editor of The Oregodnian:
Since you declare that it would have been so easy to have amended the Higgs bilt—which you admit was utterly impracticable—so as to have made it sufficient and satisfactory, why did you delay making the very simple and necesdid you delay making the very simple and neces-early suggestions until the legislature had ad-journed? I cannot believe it was because of disinctipation to express your opinion, or to tender your advice, nor on account of extreme modesty; for you rentured from day to day throughout the seedson—as was your privilege and duty—to make known your opinion and offer your advice on many matters, none of them of greater importance than this. If you could and would have suggested to me three or four weeks ago amendments to the Biggs bill which, as you now claim, are in your cetima-tion so simple and complete as to have accom-pitched the object which fit Biggs and myself were both striving to obtain, you would have conferred a great boon upon the state, and I would have gladly guaranteed you a thousand new, pald-in-advance subscribers to The Oraconferred a great boon upon the state, and I would have gladly guaranteed you a thousand new, raid-in-advance subscribers to This Orac-Gorlan in Upaglils county. I suppose you knew that both Mr. Biggs and myself had introduced title having in view the same object. I suppose; you knew substantially what their provisions were; if they were, as jou say, interly impracticable, and you knew a short and simple remedy, was it quits just on the part of a great public instructor like Tus Christonian to withhold that pracious information until too late for us to use—utful the session and ended—and then taunt us with being fools, and cowards, and knaws? Early in the session I introduced a bill, which I contess was the best I knew. Of course it was not miended by the powers in the ascendancy that it should even have a chance for its life, and it did not; bit perhaps it is as well, for you would have said it was impracticable, and I suspect impedit would not have operated with first-class results all round. Yot in the basis and confusion of the seasion, with early every member pushing forward some pet measure—and many of them meniorious—I confess again that I would not have benown how to have amended it to make it better or more "practical" and yet meet in any wise the demands of our region of country. So with Mr. Bigge's bill; I knew it was not the thing, but I knew we must have something; and so far as I was able to give it a fair chance, but just how to knew of the sea sto make it practical and perfect, I admit I did not knew, onless to substitute my original plan, which at that late day would have most certainly inperilled ail militoral legislation—and the store of the season which who have amended the I suppose mine was imperfect and "impractical" to. o. The regulation of freights is a problem which has engaged the profound attention and a of the wisest and purest men of the laud generation, and is a problem yet meelved, what a legislature can do—except through the control of the laud through the legislature can do—except through the legislature can be seen that the laud through through the laud through through through the laud through through the laud through through the laud through through the laud through through through through through through through through through the laud through through the laud through through through the laud through through the laud through through through through the laud through the laud through through the laud through through the laud through what a legislature can do—except through a commission—to fix freight rates, and how they can best do it, to remedy the evils of corporate coppression, especially in a state like this, with roade with such unequal opportunities and incomes, is a study worthy the best intellects of the state for years, ideed for a lifetime; yet you inform your readers that I, single-handed and alone, could not only have proposed, but could have "passed," amendments to an "utterly impracticable" bill, which would have accomplished the great results desired. Really, you do me too much honor. I do not pretend to be able, when a bill of this immense importance comes in from the house toward the tail end of the escelon, to make it perfect in an hour nor a day; nor if I could have done so, do I suppose I could have "passed" it by a wave of the hand or a word of command. With time and opportunity, even I might have suggested some improvements to hir. Bigge's bill but to say that I could have "passed" it is paying me a compliment (not intended as such, of course), which I really do not deserve. Why not say other senators could and ought to have "passed" the bill forward as far as it went did not probable in yother cenator from doing the same, if at any time I failtered. I was never aware that I had any dictatorial power in the senate as the state, not any other and the narrow gauge; and if I had kindy not be roaded in the other the contracy. If I had had your receipt, whatever it is, for successfully regulating freights so say to reluce nites about one-third on the O. B. & M. Co. 's lide, without stopping traffic or randously injuring other roade in the state, notably line. Pacific and the narrow gauge; and if I had known that I could have "passed" they or a long nites about one-third on the O. B. & M. Co. 's lide, without stopping traffic or randously injuring other roade in the state, notably the Oregon reside had been in my judge est even reachely overlied the divisional have does not give us relief—and I do not expect it will do so a

A BRAVE TRADER. John Hanever, of this city, was for five years a comrade of Tom Will-lains, whose death from exposure in Alaska was city, was for hve years a'comrade of Tom Williams, whose death from exposure in Alaska was announced in The Orkobylah's telagraphic columns Saturday. Mr. Hanover says young Williams was not a miner, but a sailor, who made his way to Fort St. Michael, a trading post of the Alaska Commercial company, and about fifty miles north of the mouth of the Yukon siver. He was employed by them as trader. Williams was a brave young fellow and had wonderful powers of endurance and was often detailed to go on perlicus trips in winter. All have to travel more or less with dogs and slede. Mr. Hanover relates that Williams went on a trip north along the coast a few days after the ice had taken in the Norton sound, and on returning, he came near keing his life. The terrible gales from off the land drive the lee out to sea from shore, and nothing that goes with if ever returns. On this occasion Williams was near home, when to his surplies he found that he hed drifted about 200 yards from shore. He saw his danger, drew his knife and cut his dozs loose and plunged into the water, and he and the dogs swam ashore. He walked five miles to the fort with an ice jacket on him. Many remarkable and interesting things could be related concerning this young man. Mr. McQuestin, who was mentioned in the dispatches as a comrade of Williams, is a native of bregon and his relatives near Salem. as a comrade of Williams, is a native of Oregon and has relatives near Salem.

THE NEW DIRECTORY -Polk & Co.'s Portbinders, and will be reary for delivery to subscribers in a day or two. It is quite a formidable volume, and beside the Portland directory contains directories of the following suburbis: Rest Portland, Albina, Fulton, Mi, Tabor, Sell-wood, Willsburg, and also of The Balles. A list of the taxpayers of Multomah and Wasco counties is also given. There is a list of all trades, professions and porsuits, directory of city and county officers, terms of courts, schools, etc., and a catalogue of churches, secret and benevolent societies, etc. The work in fullness and horoughness exceeds any presions edition, and is very creditable to all concerned, fir. Charles E. Mesch, who has charge of the churchistopic of our directory, has been offered a more lucrative position in the same line at Alianeapolis, but has declined, like all who have once become worted bere, belleving that Portindi is the best place in the Union to live in, and has a glorious futtre which he wishes to stay and have a share in.

GROWTH IN FIFTEEN YEARS -A comparison between the Portland city directory now issuing from the press and the directory of 1872 will from the press and the directory of 1872 will give some idea of the prog ess of the city during the past fifteen years. The directory for 1872 enturins 140 columns of names of residents of fortland, thirty-five in each, while the directory for 1887 contains 380 columns, containing the same number of numes, a chal of 13,300. The East Portland director for 1472 contains ten sim-ilar columns of names, while the list for this pear comprises fifty-seven columns. Of course there then was no towns of Albina or Selivood, or Fulton or Mt. ALHENA SCHOOL DISTRICT NO. 31. The election of a school clerk and a director will take place in this district Monday, March o. C. H. Hall is the out-pilog Greeter, while Mr. Watkins is the clerk out going. Both have made good records as officers. There seems to be a general wish that Mr. Fill will again take the office of director. He has exuressed a desire to thave some one else serve the district, as he has been in office for a tory time, but the district cannot well dispense with his experience and judgment at his time. The district is in need of new buildings. Next fall it is estimated that room will have to be made for at least seventifies more puj ils. The present directors appreciate this bec-estix, and there will be no tron ile in that direct on, if the people instruct them to go on with its building. Albina schools are well conducted, and the district will keep page with the progress of the country surrounding. will take place in this destrict Monday, March of BREIDS PART.

Saturday night a most plonsant birthday party was given Hawthorne Nottage, by his parette, was given Hawthorne Notiage, by his pareits, at their residence on the corner of I and Eighth. The spacious pariors were thrown open to Master Hawthorne's young friends, and they showed their appreciation and well wishes for ble future by numerous presents, which he will undoubtedly prize very highly. A splendid repast was served, of which all partook with evident pleasure. Dr. No lage and his wrie made their sen's goests at home, and in many ways added to their entertainment.

Last night fliere was considerable confusion on the sidewalk in front of the Salvation baron the adowalk in front of the Salvation Uar-noks. An often attempted to arrest two of the marties who were making most of the disurb-ance, but one made off, and the other was inl-lowed to go on the promise that he would cake no more distortance. There should be some way to suppress these aldewalk congregations. They are a nulsance, and should be stopped.

PROBIBITION ITEMS.

Prof. Crowburst and Elder Webb bave organized nine prohibition clubs in different parts of the state since the state alliance.

Rev. G. M. Peurce hers started the prohibitory amendment beli to rolling at the Hall-street M. E, church by having a lively temperance Sunday school concert at his church last evening. The audience room was crowded, and the youthful temperance army moved forward with song and speech and recitation. Mr. Peirce says the next one will be still better.

By request of Mr. Wager we publish the following:

The few men about Westor and Milton who have very sore heads and light boekets, and their recognitions are recognited by the saverton that wager 'sold out' on certain bills in profer to secure certain support to aid in the defeat of Lee county. Perhaps the facts have aiready been sufferently role, but the bubble is entitled to the intiest possible history of the matter, bence the further statement of lacts following. Indeed, the further statement of lacts following the statement of lacts following th request of Mr. Wager we publish the followhave reported the best max mum-rate bill I could device. This bill was slowly strongled in the committee, which inally brough in a commission bill draffed by their cirits. In the meantime Mr. Biggs' bill, owing to a more flavorable committee, and to less rationed intracts in the house, and to less rationed intracts in the house, and to less rationed intracts in the house, and to see a store had an ease. Now, I said, if it is to be a diciore between hits emaccutated commission bill and Mr. Biggs' carriemes and as I think impracticable rate bill be seen and so told him and bill seed to the house, and so told him and told the wind of the could be seen and so told him and told with the could be seen the could be seen the count of the representatives but as a choice between two evils. I preferred that to a commission bill such as had been drawn, because I was dufurmined that some start should be made in rational flexistator. Therefore, when the commission bill came up for second reading in the senate, I moved that the deferred mill the diggs bill, which had just passed the house and arrived in the senate, I moved that it be deferred mill the diggs bill, which had just passed the house and arrived in the senate of the subject of the subject of the bill be an in the senate that the which was also done, I then consented, as many senators said they had not read the bill, to make it as special order for the second day following. I then moved consideration of the nominished bill no committee of the whole; seek not by section, for the purpose of attendment. As to Mr. Siglin, who voted against the division. I will, in justice to both hith and myself, say that as soon so the "investigation" collapsed, we marked against the curred outling the say of the say for many years. Of course I think the goulsi and entertationy company of the Pendieton bors may have had something to do in making Sigin's wounded heart whole, but that is a matter of conjecture.

FREIGHTS—The British Army has been taken to by fallour, Guthrie & Co. for grain loading. The port list is then 2 to load and 3 open. The Abercom is coming no river but thore is no report of her having business.

WHEAT—Foreign markets again duil, the presence of a large fleet of coast awaiting orders or sale be lung a quieting effect. Hastern markets in fair tone and San Francisco gives promise of trade increasing there soon. With us receipts are almost nothing and each side is waiting for some turn to throw things its way. The two vessels recently taken must have cargoes in sight. One will be loaded by a firm crofitted with holding over 10,00 tons wheat, Another firm with vessels to arrive holds five or six cargoes of wheat and flour. It manifes: that shippers have no particular need and containly they do not meet holders that way. Walla Walla is still quoted $1.30 with few sollers and fewer buyers. Valley quoted $1.30 201 37%, the fulls only going the extreme. A midway selling ligure might attract shippers.

MILL-STUFES—Demands for some time have been in excess of new supplies and stocks are now next to nothing. Even small orders are fitted with difficulty. Prices consequently are firm and promise some-advance. Mills sell much of their products at home, sending little this way. No corn received very lately and stocks are low.
